DO YOU OWE THE 4% USE TAX?

ANY TAXABLE ITEM ON WHICH THE PENNSYLVANIA SALES TAX HAS NOT BEEN PAID IS SUBJECT TO THE FOUR PER CENT USE TAX IF PURCHASED OUTSIDE THE COMMONWEALTH AND BROUGHT INTO PENNSYLVANIA FOR USE WITHIN THIS STATE'S BORDERS.

The Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, through the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax, is preparing to augment its intensive enforcement program to insure compliance with the Pennsylvania Sales and Use Tax Law in border communities. Out-of-state merchants have been advertising and delivering merchandise in Pennsylvania border municipalities, making these merchants responsible for collection and payment of the four per cent Pennsylvania Sales and/or Use Tax.

Since Pennsylvania merchants are exposed to unfair competition by these non-collection out-of-state vendors, legal proceedings may be brought against these out-of-state merchants in the Pennsylvania or Federal Courts.

Preliminary Study Shows Folly Of Wage Tax Here

THE STROUD Union School District and two townships which make up the

the right answer even if the need for more revenue can be shown beyond

A spokesman for the district said the matter is only in the exploration stage and that nothing will be done until the necessity of raising more money to meet upcoming expenses has been established.

The matter of state aid will be a key factor in this decision, we have been advised. As yet the state is not prepared to announce the reimbursement fraction which will determine the amount of aid to the district.

Several established facts enter into our belief that Stroud Union should move very cautiously before it takes action on adopting a wage tax. These points stand out as we study the results of our own survey of other communities which have levied wage taxes.

From our study, which is still in the preliminary stage, we become increasingly convinced that wage taxes fail to materially reduce other forms of local taxation. Conversely, they merely provide the means for imposing an additional financial burden on an already over-taxed public without deriving full benefit for the monies collected.

Adoption of the wage tax would signal the creation of a new and costly bureaucracy for the collection of the levy, since the work would not be done through normal channels.

Operation of the special agency would require the hiring of a separate collector at a substantial salary, plus a number of assistantspossibly as many as six or eightto run the office.

Aside from salaries, collection costs would mount still further with the addition of such expenses as office rental, purchase of costly equipment, furnishings and materials.

Experience has shown that when one district adopts the wage tax, surrounding districts soon follow suit for the protection of their citizens who either reached that limit or are close otherwise would be forced to pay two to it. And we're not thinking of those taxes if they work in one district and reside in another.

The chances that one politcial body has under advisement a proprosal to would gain a tax windfall by being the levy a wage tax in the two boroughs first to impose a wage tax are almost nil. Besides surrounding districts which would come in for their share We question whether such a tax is of the taxes paid, a school board for example would have to share the revenue with the borough or township if the councilmen or supervisors saw fit to approve a similar levy, which they have a right to do. Each would then receive one-half of the allowable one percent

Our study strongly indicates that a wage tax becomes a permanent part of the tax structure once it is adopted. this in spite of the best intentions of those who put it on the books. In other words, the term "temporary wage tax" as frequently used is a misnomer if not an outright deception.

Let us not kid ourselves that the wage tax is a means of getting those in the upper income brackets to shoulder a bigger share of the tax burden.

It is the ordinary wage-earner who would be hit harder, proportionately, than his wealthier neighbor since only wages, salaries and similar payments for services rendered would be taxed. Dividends, rentals, interest and the like would be exempt.

In the school district's exploration of the subject, we urge that serious thought be given to each and every item in the new budget with a view of eliminating any expenses that cannot be justified to the fullest extent.

This is a must regardless of whether Fussed administration legislative state allocations to the schools reach expectations. Any savings that can be made without injury to the district's fine educational program should be put into effect before an emergency need for more money arrives.

We want the schools of our county to be the best in the state and the nation. We want our teachers to be well paid. And we are willing to pay the cost of bringing these things about, so long as they are within our ability to East Stroudsburg's firemen will attempt to take the measure of Stroudsburg's Smokey Stovers in a bowling match at Harmon's Recreation, East Stroudsburg, Sunday, at 2 p.m.

Eastburg will try to make it three straight. If Don Gage is in rare form the Eastburgers will run their skein to three.

The match will be for the benefit of the Heart Fund according to our bird-dog, Dailey.

A friend of mine has suggested an idea to make the Civil War Centennial more realistic. His suggestion is to burn down Atlanta again. Now all we need is another General Sherman.

Not sympathy but envy is what people were feeling for the kidnapped passengers aboard that Portuguese cruise ship - the pirate caption looks like Errol Flynn - but more than that the thip is still heading south.

Husbands awaiting the arrival of the theater train special on Wednesday night began to think that maybe the train had been a victim of piracy, too. Due at nine p.m. it never g : in until 1 p.m.

Their wives had had a big day: visited the Stock Exchange, had lunch at Fraunces Tavern, and seen "Critic's Choice"; and battled New York City's record cold. It was the cold which made the train late in starting, and a stalled commuter train added to the delay. The local passengers spent most of the time passing Chatham, sometimes in reverse.

One of the most frustrated passengers was Elizabeth Harmon who'd been visiting her new granddaughter in California. It took her about four hours from California to New York and about eight hours from New York to Strouds-

DON'T LET THEM HIGHER GASOLINE TAXES

Good highways are absolutely essential to all of us who work and reside in this great state of Pennsylvania, so it goes without saying that we're all for better highways. In fact, we've always supported reasonable, wellplanned legislation designed to meet the public need and to deliver the most highway value for your gasoline tax dollar.

But the governor's action in attempting to ram through legislation increasing your gasoline tax from 5 cents to 7 cents per gallon has been taken without regard for facts, need, or your pocketbook.

In fact, this whopping increase is being railroaded through without public hearings. It has already been pushed through the House in a special midnight session. The next speedy step before you are saddled with additional gasoline taxes is the Senate. It seems that the governor wants to present the people of Pennsylvania with a 40 per cent increase in their state gasoline taxes before they have time to ask questions.

And many questions should be asked. For example, is the doubling of the work on non-federal aid construction -- as proposed by the governor-necessary? Will state highways department be able to complete this vast construction project—without wasting public funds—in a single year? Or is the governor trying to collect in a single year funds that might logically be expended over a two or three year period?

These are questions that you should ask your state senator. Get in touch with him by telephone, telegram or letter. But let him hear from you today. Time is short—and tomorrow might be too late. Remember it is your money that's involved, and you are entitled to the facts as to how and why it is needed. Ask your state senator today. Tomorrow might be too late.

January 31 Deadline For Employers

JANUARY 31 is the deadline for employers in the Scranton District to furnish their employes with statements of income and social security taxes withheld from their wages during 1960.

This reminder was issued yesterday for the benefit of those employers who have not already done so, said John H. Rauen, Jr. Acting District Director of Internal Revenue.

Most employers, he said. already have given their employes copies of the W-2 form, one of which must be attached to the Federal income tax return filed by the employe reporting income received during 1960.

He said prompt furnishing of W-2's by employers is a big factor in timely and accurate filing of income tax returns by the nation's taxpayers.
